Beacon of Hope Update

Critical Need for Volunteers

Women Advisors: Advisors meet one-to-one with participants to develop relationships with them, discuss their Bible study lessons, and help them understand God's plan of salvation.

- You DO NOT need to be: a Bible scholar, perfect, a trained counselor.
- You DO need to be: a member of FBC, a sinner saved by grace, and someone who cares about people.

If the Lord has been working on your heart about becoming an Advisor, please feel free to stop by Beacon any Tuesday evening to learn more or contact Karen Leif.

Play room helpers: Supervise and play with children in the play area. Must meet requirements of First Baptist Child Protection Policy.

Learn & Earn Store: Volunteers are needed on the 4th Tuesday of the month. Older teens are welcome for this job.

Bibles Needed

If you have copies of the NIV 1984 version of the Bible that you don't need any more, Beacon of Hope will take them. All Beacon Bible studies are based on this version and it is getting harder to get them. Also, Large and Giant Print NIV 1984 Bibles would be especially appreciated.

GUIDELINES FOR BAPTISM & MEMBERSHIP FOR CHILDREN/STUDENTS (Revised and Updated January 2010)

One of the difficult questions that churches such as ours face is: “When is a child ready to be baptized and become a member of the church?” For churches that practice believer’s baptism this question has resulted in different churches coming to different conclusions.

The Bible does not state a specific age. Therefore the spiritual leadership of each local congregation must take the responsibility of developing some kind of general guidelines that protect the integrity and seriousness of the important biblical steps of baptism and entrance into the fellowship of the church. A child should not be rushed into this time of examining their heart and purposefully choosing to publicly articulate their faith before the body of believers.

In an article dealing with the question of the “age of accountability,” Timothy George, dean of Beeson Divinity School (Christianity Today, 3/1/99) offered some helpful thoughts. He said that throughout church history there have been differing opinions on the “accountable age.” He writes, “Some Christians have based their teaching about the age of accountability on Jesus’ encounter with the teachers of the Law when he was 12 years old. Doubtless, this was an important moment in Jesus’ development, perhaps his bar mitzvah when, as a Jewish young man, he would be recognized as fully responsible to participate in the worship of the community.” George goes on to state that the Puritans “generally forbade admitting children to Communion before the age of 14.”

While George makes it clear in the article that the Bible gives us no specific age of accountability he offers this stern warning to Baptist Churches: “Historically, most churches that practice believers’ baptism have emphasized the adult character of this decision, making baptism a post-puberty rite. In some baptistic circles, however, the age of baptism has steadily declined so that many churches are practicing a kind of ‘toddler baptism’ with little theological or biblical warrant.”

With these thoughts in mind, in the year 2009 the pastors and deacons came up with the following guidelines for baptizing children. Some of the guidelines had actually been in place for many years, but we thought it would be helpful to refine them and put them in writing for the benefit of parents of younger children. We recognize that no man-made guidelines are perfect, but hopefully these will offer some help to our parents as they direct their children in these matters.

1. A child will not be considered for baptism until he/she is at least 10 years of age.
2. Reaching the age of 10 does not mean that a child will automatically be accepted as a candidate for baptism. The parents of the child and the pastors of the church must be in full agreement in their belief that the child has truly repented and embraced Christ in wholehearted discipleship and is prepared to clearly articulate his/her profession of faith before the church body.
3. Upon the agreement of the parents and pastors that the child is ready for baptism, the child will then meet with the deacons of the church to share his/her testimony of personal faith in Christ.
4. The final step is the actual baptism service in which the child will publicly share his/her testimony with the congregation and then be baptized by immersion.

GUIDELINES FOR BAPTISM & MEMBERSHIP FOR CHILDREN/STUDENTS

REVISED GUIDELINES – EFFECTIVE JANUARY 2010

- Children under the age of 18 will continue to be considered as candidates for baptism according to the above guidelines.
- However, children under the age of 18 will no longer be granted full membership in the church upon their baptism. Instead, they will be classified as student members. Student membership will allow them limited participation in church ministries, but they will not have the voting rights and privileges that adult members do.
- When a student member turns 18 years of age they will be notified that they are eligible for adult membership. However, they will not be granted adult membership until they meet with the deacons and share a brief testimony about their current spiritual walk with Christ. If a student member chooses not to meet with the deacons their name will automatically be removed from the membership roll of First Baptist Church.
- It is our prayer that, by the grace of God, the “Revised Guidelines” will allow the Biblical Church Body to play an important role in assisting the Biblical Family Unit in the spiritual development of young men and women at a crucial time in their spiritual lives.

MISSIONS UPDATE:

BUSY HANDS FOR MISSIONS

On March 2nd there were 6 ladies present, and we filled 75 ditty bags for Youth Haven Ranch and tied one quilt. We are still in need of washcloths and toothbrushes for the ditty bags. If you have been filling your dime bank, it should be turned in by April 12th to the office. This year it will go to the Lansing Rescue Mission.

On March 11 we packed and mailed three 30 pound boxes of pillowcase dresses and shorts to Brandon and Rachel Buser. Each one cost $144.80 to send. We still have a 15 pound box to mail that will cost $91.00 to send. If you wish to help us defray this cost you may contribute by placing it in an envelope marked "Busy Hands" and place it in the offering plate. We thank those who have already given toward this: a total of $186.00 thus far.

Our next meeting will be April 7th, at 9:30 AM. Hope to see you there! In His service, Dee Chapman

MISSIONS CLOSET

The new Missions Closet is located on the lower level-classroom #10 in the storage room (formerly for AWANA). There is a dropped ceiling with new lighting, a wall with peg board and hangers for displaying and hanging items, shelves with plastic bins to store things and an area to hang clothing. In the center is an island cupboard where we can package and store items in the drawers. The walls and floor have been painted. All your gifts are moved in. Thanks to Beacon of Hope for storing everything for the past few years and to our Youth Group for moving them to the church.

The items most needed in the closet are: twin and queen-size mattress pads, queen-size sheets, dish towels (part of the Birthday gift items sent to our ladies), SOCKS (all sizes), and various tools are such a delightful gift for Missionary men.

Our visiting Speakers were encouraged to take items from the Tool Shower Table. The ladies were given a handmade bag with various items such as dishcloths and matching towels, toiletry items, note cards, a candle, and an afghan. David was given some items he might use in traveling: handkerchiefs, flashlight, socks, a couple books he chose from the Book Table, and lots of snack items.

MAILINGS IN FEBRUARY

Craig and Shelly had a list of items that were mailed: school books, vitamins for the whole family, seasoning and salad dressing packets, and fruit-flavored gummie snacks.

MISC. ITEMS

The collection of pop tabs were taken to the Church Ministry conference and given to Jody at Christian Rest Home to be used for a free dialysis program. We are collecting unopened Happy Meal toys from various fast food restaurants. Thank you for the lovely items given during Missions Month and for the children's magazines.

CITY RESCUE MISSION OF LANSING

Here are a few items they are in need of: styrofoam 8 oz. cups, fabric softener sheets, women's T-shirts, L, XL, XXL, men's underwear and T-shirts. Place items in the yellow container located in the lower level in classroom #12.

Bill & Nan Mosher (Retired)

Address: 2454 Red Maple Dr. SE • Grand Rapids, MI • 49512-9095

Telephone number: 616.258.8266      E-mail: moshergems@hotmail.com

Birthdays: Bill (Kenneth William Jr.): 9/23/35    Nan (Nanette): 4/30/38    Anniversary: 8/1/59

Children: Benjamin: 5/20/61 (married to Lisa) • Charles: 3/30/64 (married to Ann)

• Melinda: 10/2/65 (married to Ken Crouse)

Nan grew up in Indiana. Her family attended liberal churches until her Dad was convicted about getting the family under clear Scriptural teaching. He took the family to a Baptist church in Fort Wayne. On Easter Sunday six months later (shortly before her tenth birthday), Nan trusted Christ as her Savior.

Bill moved often as his Dad was a pilot in the Army Air Corps. The family moved to Northville, MI in 1952. Peter Nieuwkoop was the pastor of the Baptist church in town. The Nieuwkoop's son, Roger was in the same grade as two of Bill's brothers. He invited them to the young people's meetings. The faithful gospel witness given was rewarded by Bill's three younger brothers' positive response. They witnessed to Bill when he was home from college. He argued with their words but was convinced by the testimony of their changed lives. Coming out of church one Sunday morning Bill learned that two of his drinking buddies had been killed in an accident. Except for God's directing otherwise, Bill would've been with them. He realized then the peril of living unsaved. He went home to his room and yielded his heart to the Lord asking Christ to save him. This was his senior year at the University of Michigan. About 6 months after receiving the Lord, Bill sensed God's call at a Bible conference to career ministry and submitted to Him.

Nan entered the Nursing College at University of Michigan when Bill was a senior. After they were married Bill completed his seminary education at Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary. He entered the Air Force in 1966 and served as chaplain for nine years. He and Nan joined Baptist Mid-Missions in July 1975. They served in England from 1976 until 1992 when Bill began serving in the position of Asian Field Administrator for Asia, the Pacific, the British Isles, and the English speaking Caribbean. At the time, Baptist Mid-Missions' personnel were in 17 countries in the vast area - a diverse group ranging from India, Bangladesh, Micronesia in the Pacific and Jamaica to Japan, Britain, Australia, and Hawaii. Bill pastored these missionaries and served as a link to resources in the States. He was involved in opening new fields for gospel outreach, assisting the missionaries in their ministry, meeting government officials, working with field councils to develop strategies for ministry, and counseling troubled missionaries. Nan often traveled with Bill and did a valuable job relating to the women. She took note of the things to be done or to obtain back in the States for the missionaries and compiled useful lists of prayer requests. She also worked in the medical department at the Home Office a couple days a week. Additionally, she was very active as a Biblical counselor at Berea Baptist Church. She received her MA in Biblical Counseling in May of 2003.

They retired from Baptist Mid-Missions in 2006. As a retiree, Bill's ministry has included a position as assistant pastor at Berea Baptist Church in Berea, Ohio, retiring a second time in December 2013. Nan has ministered in the church by counseling, discipling women, and has worked at Baptist Mid-Missions' inner city Cleveland ministry. They have strived to build relationships with Arabic people in the Cleveland area and served in an outreach to international students at the local college. In 2010, they traveled to Asia to interact with national believers and missionaries in four countries. They spent a year in Tucson, AZ to assist with their son's family, get acquainted with their three granddaughters, and work with a Christian organization to help refugee families settle in Tucson. They returned to Ohio in June 2012 and resumed the assistant pastor role and counseling at Berea Baptist Church.

They sold their house in Ohio in November 2014 and have moved to Breton Homes in Grand Rapids. Two of their children, Ben and Melinda, live within an hour of them. Their other son Charles and his family live outside Omaha, Nebraska. This enables them to attend activities of their grandchildren. They have joined West Cannon Baptist Church.

Recently Bibles International has invited Bill to work part time to research languages for future translation projects. His focus will mainly be in Asia and the Pacific region where he has many contacts from his years as Baptist Mid-Missions Field Administrator for that area. Nan has been prominent in developing prayer ministry in recent years. Rejoice that God has work yet for them in their retirement. Pray that the Lord keeps them healthy and gives them strength for each new task.

Food for Thought...A Challenge to be Thinking Christians

4 Things God Says to Singles

By Vaughan Roberts

Vaughan Roberts serves as rector of St. Ebbe's Church in Oxford.

About 35 percent of adult church members in Britain are single, so clearly the subject of singleness has considerable personal interest to many people in our churches. Each single person will have a different experience. There are age differences. Being single at 20 is very different from being single at 30, 40, or 70. There are circumstantial differences: some have never married, while others are divorcees, widows, or widowers. And there are experiential differences: some have chosen to be single and are basically content; others long to be married and feel frustrated.

What does the Bible say to all these people?

1. Singleness is a gift from God.

So much in our society is structured around couples. It's often just assumed that adults will have a partner and that there's something rather odd about them if they don't for any period of time. Oscar Wilde summed up the view of many: "Celibacy is the only known sexual perversion."

There's nothing new in this negative view of celibacy. In the first century, Rabbi Eleazar said, "Any man who has no wife is no proper man." The Talmud went even further: "The man who is not married at 20 is living in sin." Given that background, it is astonishing how positive the New Testament is about singleness. Paul speaks of it as a "gift" (1 Cor. 7:7), and Jesus says it is good "for those to whom it has been given" (Matt. 19:11).

A friend of mine once belonged to a young adult church group called "Pairs and Spares." Single people can be made to feel like spare parts in their families, social groups, and churches. One man was so fed up with being asked "Are you still single?" that he began to respond, "Are you still married?" We must resist the implication that singleness is second best. The Bible doesn't say so. Marriage is good, but so is singleness: it has been "given" to some.

But what if I don't think I have the "gift" of singleness? I don't find it easy being on my own, and I long to marry; does that mean I'm experiencing "second best"? No. When Paul speaks of singleness as a gift, he isn't speaking of a particular ability some people have to be contentedly single. Rather, he's speaking of the state of being single. As long as you have it, it's a gift from God, just as marriage will be God's gift if you ever receive it. We should receive our situation in life, whether it is singleness or marriage, as a gift of God's grace to us.

2. Singleness has advantages.

Paul mentions two advantages of singleness in 1 Corinthians 7:

- Single people are spared the "troubles" of marriage. There are many great blessings in marriage, but there are difficulties too. Understandably, Christian couples don't often talk openly about the hard things they face, which can give singles a rose-tinted view of marriage. But there's a down side even when a married couple's relationship is good: life is more complicated. There's more than one person to consider in decisions about use of time, accommodation, holidays, even the daily menu. And there's more than one person to worry about. Children bring great pleasure but plenty of anxiety as well. Marriage does bring "many troubles in this life" and, Paul says, "I want to spare you this" (1 Cor. 7:28). He mentions these troubles here chiefly because of the bearing they have on the next point.

- Single people can devote themselves more fully to God's work: "An unmarried man is concerned about the Lord's affairs—how he can please the Lord. But a married man is concerned about the affairs of this world—how he can please his wife—and his interests are divided" (1 Cor. 7:32-34). A vital part of the Christian responsibility of married persons is to care for their spouse and children. That should take time, time that cannot therefore be spent in witnessing to people, helping out at a camp, doing the church finances, or leading a Bible study. Single people have more time to give to such things. It's no coincidence that many activities in church life depend to a large extent on those who aren't married. A few consciously choose to stay single to devote themselves to Christian work. Most single people haven't chosen singleness in that way and yet they have the same advantages as those who have. Instead of focusing on the difficulties of being single, as some do, we should all make the most of the advantages of God's gift of singleness while we have it.

3. Singleness is hard.

When God saw Adam on his own in the Garden of Eden, he said, "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a helper suitable for him" (Gen. 2:18). So Eve was created to meet Adam's need for companionship, and the two came together in the lifelong, sexual relationship of marriage. Although the New Testament is positive about singleness, there's no doubt marriage is regarded as the norm. It is God's loving gift to humanity and the chief context in which our desire for intimacy is met. Single people are therefore likely to struggle with loneliness and sexual temptation. Those struggles are certainly not exclusive to the unmarried, but they are very much a part of the single condition. Some will seek to lessen them by getting married. Others will either choose not to marry or will feel unable to because of their circumstances, personality, or sexual attraction. They are likely to face a lifelong battle with loneliness and sexual temptation.

Those two battles are closely related. The lonelier we are, the more likely we are to struggle with sexual fantasy and fall into sin. We need to be proactive in seeking help in these areas. We aren't designed to be on our own, and if we aren't to be married, whether in the short or long term, we should seek to satisfy our need for intimacy in other relationships. That will mean taking the initiative in keeping in close contact with friends and family. And we must be self-disciplined in "fleeing from sexual immorality" (1 Cor. 6:18). It often helps to have one or two close friends to whom we are accountable in this area.

4. Singleness is not permanent.

Many who are presently single will one day marry. Others will remain single throughout their lives. But no Christian is single forever. Human marriage reflects the marriage God wants to enjoy with his people forever. The Bible speaks of Jesus as the bridegroom who will one day return to take his bride, the church, to be with him in the perfect new creation. On that day all pain will disappear, including the pain of a difficult marriage or singleness. God will wipe away every tear from our eyes and a great shout will be heard: "Let us rejoice and be glad and give him glory! For the wedding of the Lamb has come, and his bride has made herself ready" (Rev. 7:17; 19:7).

Food for Thought...A Challenge to be Thinking Christians (Cont.)

After we had spoken about heaven, an elderly single lady said to me, "I can't wait for my wedding day!" We should all share the same hope. And we can already experience something of that intimate marriage with Christ here on earth by the work of the Spirit in our lives. Human relationships do matter, but none is nearly as important as our eternal relationship with Jesus.

A final word to those who are single:

- Thank God for the gift of singleness. Whatever your experience of singleness, recognize it as a gift from God and make the most of it for as long as you have it.
- Do all you can to be godly. It's easy for those who are single to lapse into a selfish, self-centred lifestyle and into sexual sin, whether in thought or deed. Be self-disciplined and accountable to others.
- Keep your eyes fixed on heaven. It is our eternal relationship with Christ that ultimately matters.

A final word to those who are married:

- Don't think of singleness as second best. Christian preacher and author John Chapman spoke of friends taking him for long walks and telling him he should be married. He commented: "It would have been a great help if they had read the Bible, wouldn't it?"
- Remember that your family is the whole church. There should be no lonely people in our church. We need to be opening up our homes to one another and relating to one another not just in the nuclear family, but in the church family.
- Keep your eyes fixed on heaven. Human marriage matters, but it will not last forever (Mark 12:25). Our relationship with Christ must come first.
